Anti-Klan Partisans Believe Underwood Will Be More Effective Leader

Washington, D. C.—The certainty that President Coolidge will be nominated on the Republican ticket has turned political discussion here almost entirely to the Democratic race.

Interest in which in the last few days has become intensified through the activities of those favoring Governor Al Smith of New York.

Several Republicans are secretly hoping the Democrats will not name Al Smith because they appreciate what a complicated campaign would ensue. Party lines might be broken by religious ties. A bitter struggle would be bound to ensue with respect to the wet and dry issue. The friends of President Coolidge hope neither the religious nor the prohibition issue will be raised. Both are hard to meet.

For example, naming a candidate like Governor Smith, his opponents would have to lean backward in proclaiming their lack of religious prejudice. Even inside the Democratic party that phase of the contest is causing embarrassment today. Democrats who favor Al Smith are saying they think the only real opposition is coming from those who object to the fact that Al Smith is a Catholic. They do not regard the argument that he is a "wet" as being the sole reason for opposition. In fact, they are by an admission for the New York governor and his vote-getting strength in the east, they will not accept arguments about religion or prohibition with much grace. Whatever the outcome, there is bound to be a certain amount of disaffection, all of which is not displeasing to the Republicans.

FAVOR UNDERWOOD

Some of the anti-Smith men who are sympathetic with the effort of Democrats to put through a platform plank denouncing the Ku Klux Klan think the most effective way to fight that organization is not with a Catholic but with a Protestant. The fight that Senator Underwood of Alabama is making against the Klan is pointed to as much more convincing and effective strategy and one more likely to win wide support than a straight fight between men of the particular creeds denounced by the K. K. K.

The nomination of Al Smith may not come to pass for various reasons apart from his religion but his supporters probably will not be content until they have committed the Democratic convention and its candidates to an absolute repudiation of the Ku Klux Klan. At the moment the Republicans with few exceptions are inclined to give preference to it in the party platform.

Star Witness in Wheeler Investigation Denies Previous Statement

BY Associated Press

Washington, D. C.—Contempt proceedings against Blair Coan, one of the star witnesses in the senate's investigation of the indictment of Senator Wheeler, were suggested in the senate Saturday by Senator Walsh of Montana, prosecutor on the oil committee.

The proposal was based on reports that Coan had claimed to have uncovered evidence in Montana warranting Senator Walsh's indictment. The senator read a telegram from Coan denying he had made such a claim, but added:

"I have the statement of several newspapermen that he did make such a statement."

ZAYAS LEAVES TO

WATCH SITUATION

BY Associated Press

Havana, Cuba.—President Zayas left Havana Saturday for Santa Clara province, where armed men are in revolt against his government. He was accompanied by Secretary of Interior Turrales and General Ferrero, chief of staff.

The president's departure was kept a secret until some time after his special train with a military guard had left the city. It was understood he was going to Cienfuegos, near where most of the trouble has centered in the last few days.

It was declared by Sub-Secretary of Interior De La Torre that President Zayas desired to ascertain personally the exact situation in Santa Clara province and that his departure for the scene of the anti-Zayas and anti-revolution outbreak did not mean that the situation was more serious.

By Associated Press

Buenos Aires.—President DeAlvear was faced Saturday with the alternative of postponing application of the new pension law or accepting the consequences of a nation-wide strike.

The law provides for the deduction of 5 per cent from salaries to be applied to a pension fund, the employers contributing a like amount.

Strikes and lockouts already have begun in various cities, and in Rosario several persons are reported to have been wounded in a clash between strikers and police. A city-wide strike is scheduled to begin in Buenos Aires Saturday, while a general closing down by the employers is fixed for Monday, with the likelihood that it will continue unless the government yields.

Senator Bursum Announces Intention to Attempt to Override President

BY Associated Press

Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge Saturday vetoed the Bursum omnibus pension bill.

The veto was based on the ground of economy, the executive holding that the measure would entail an unwarranted drain on the treasury.

Senator Bursum, Republican, New Mexico, author of the bill, announced that an early effort would be made to pass the measure over the veto. He said he thought there would be enough votes in both the senate and the house.

Shelter Sufferers

By Associated Press

Atlanta, Ga.—With organized relief well under way in virtually all localities, the southeast slowly was recovering Saturday from the series of devastating tornadoes of mid-week which had waste sections of seven states taking a toll of 106 lives injuring hundreds, rendering of others homeless and damaging property to the extent of about $10,000,000.

Supervised by field units of the American Red Cross the various local relief agencies bent their efforts Saturday toward penetrating to the outermost fringes of the storm-swept region to complete so far as possible a definite survey of the stricken regions.

Meanwhile the injured are being treated in available hospitals within the affected area while the homeless either are being sheltered and fed in hastily constructed concentration camps or in the homes of the more fortunate survivors.

RED CROSS SENDS AID

National resources of the Red Cross are being drawn upon to meet the needs of the sufferers. In addition to funds which have been made available by headquarters of the organization to aid local chapters, equipment to administer relief, several hundred tents and necessary equipment have been dispatched to provide temporary homes for the destitute.

In South Carolina where the storms struck at their worst, the first Red Cross unit to arrive was found inadequate to operate on the extensive basis required and four additional workers were enroute there Saturday.

With a total of 73 dead alone in the state, at least 200 injured and nearly 1,000 homeless, Governor McLeod appealed to the state and country as a whole to lend assistance to sufferers. The other states with their number of dead in which relief measures are being or have been taken are: Georgia 18; Alabama 11; North Carolina 5; Virginia, Louisiana and Arkansas one each.

Government Requests Privilege of Purchasing Arms to Quell Revolt

BY Associated Press

Washington, D. C.—The Cuban government, facing a "condition of violence" in Santa Clara province caused by revolutionists has appealed to the Washington government for purchase of a considerable amount of arms and ammunition for use by the Zayas forces against the revolutionists.

The appeal Saturday was approved by the state department and forwarded to the war department where it is regarded as certain that the arms and ammunition asked for will be made available to Cuban authorities without delay.

In the absence of Secretary Weeks, war department officials declined to reveal the amount of munitions asked for but indicated there would be no trouble in filling the order from the supply of excess war supplies held by the army.

The transaction with Cuba, differs in this respect from that recently negotiated between the Washington government and the Obregon government of Mexico. No authorization existed at the time Mexico asked for arms for use against the De La Huerta revolutionists and the decision in that case had to be taken by President Coolidge.

Frenchwoman Says Conflict Brought on by France and Britain

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C.—The effect of the existence of international financial interests in peace was considered Saturday by the Womens' International League for Peace and Freedom, in a discussion of the economic aspect of a new social order in which war will be impossible.

Mme. Marguerite Dumont of France said the last war was brought about by commercial competition between France and Great Britain and predicted new wars in the future unless industrial interests are checked.

Miss Emily Blach, United States delegate, expressed the opinion that peace was endangered not by simple international finance but by business looking for government support.

Miss Blach also advocated liberal international control of waterways of international importance such as the oceans, Panama and Suez canals and the elimination of all obstacle to free traveling and commerce. Mrs. Yella Hertzka of Austria said she saw in the future a new economic world order composed of smaller co-operative or syndicalist organizations in which the power of bureaucracy could not develop to the extent of being able to declare war.

District Attorney George Shaugnessy of Milwaukee and District Attorney Morris Burnett of Kenosha took the woman's story.

German Nationalists

Reactionaries Threaten Investigation of Red Revolt at Kiel in November 1918 Before Elections.

BY Associated Press

Berlin.—The German Nationalists in their campaign for the general election Sunday are making a determined eleventh hour attack on the Socialists for precipitating the revolution of November 1918. They threaten parliamentary investigation and punishment of the "Red traitors" whom they charge with "stabbing the army in the back" inciting the navy to mutiny at Kiel and staging the revolution throughout Germany with the aid of Russian rubles.

A score of old army leaders, among them Generals Von Hutler and Von Moser are supporting the Nationalist ticket which demands renunciation of the treaty of Versailles as well as the "humiliating and degrading demands from our former foes."

The middle parties—comprising the Socialists, clericals, Peoples Party and Democrats—are carrying out a "gentlemen's agreement" tacitly to abstain from attacking one another, centering the election issue on the adoption and execution of the Dawes report as a sure cure for Germany's reparations ailments.

FORM INVISIBLE UNION

Despite the striking political and economic divergencies which normally separate the Socialists from Stresemann's Peoples party, the press campaign has accomplished a silent or invisible union of these four parties for the purpose of winning sufficient votes collectively to insure them the necessary majority in the new Reichstag for the so-called "big coalition" which is definitely pledged in advance to a speedy settlement of the reparations problem on the basis of the Dawes report.

The present campaign suggests a political "witches Sabbath" in that no less than 75 parties represented in the 23 factions appearing on the official ballot.

The federal election commission in all probability will not be in a position to indicate even approximate results before Tuesday as the country is divided into 25 electoral precincts, each of which must take a laborious count of the variegated party ballots.

The letter was addressed as a result of publication of a "sensation" that an assistant attorney general had been in Watertown collecting information on the case.

SENTENCE FOR BRANDING

BY Associated Press

New York.—The appellate division of the supreme court in Brooklyn unanimously upheld Friday a sentence of three months in the workhouse imposed on Mrs. Josephine Forger, formerly of Milwaukee, on a charge of branding her stepdaughters, Anna, 2, and Pauline, 7, Dec. 4.

The court of special sessions, in Jamaica imposed the sentence on Mrs. Forger after she was found guilty of applying a hot iron to the children.

The parents of Mrs. Josephine Forger, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Scherer live in Milwaukee. Mr. Scherer is 72 and Mrs. Scherer 72. Early last month they sent $250 to their daughter when she appealed the case from the verdict of the Queens court. When Mrs. Forger lived in Milwaukee she conducted a hairdressing shop in the Casswell-bik. She left here eight years ago.

Thaw's Sister
Is Named In Divorce Case

New York.—The countess de Perigny formerly Margaret Thaw, a sister of Harry K. Thaw, has been named as respondent in a divorce suit brought by Mrs. Madelyn Helen Modica, Brooklyn, against Emanuel Victor Modica, a former automobile salesman.

Mrs. Modica last February began suit for $500,000 against the countess charging alienation of affections. Her husband was served with papers in the divorce action Friday as he was entering court. He had brought habeas corpus proceedings to obtain custody of his 2-year-old daughter, Madelyn Dorothy Modica. Justice Lewis of the supreme court later denied Modica the right to obtain custody of his child, declaring the "moral standards" were "open to serious question."

The countess first married George Lauder Carnegie, a nephew of Andrew Carnegie. Mr. Carnegie died in 1921, and in November, 1923 Mrs. Carnegie married the count in Paris.

Mrs. Modica charges her husband and the countess with indiscretions on the liner Homeric during a trip to Europe, and says the countess gave Modica an automobile and large amounts of money.

Overland searching groups from Chignik returned late Friday without any definite trace. It was learned that the searchers had found a short cut to Dutch Harbor via Chignik lakes and Portage bay, just north of the Shumagin Islands, Alaskan peninsula. At the head of Kunkita bay the overland party met a group sent out from an unnamed coast guard cutter. Two men were dispatched northward along the coast but were forced back on account of ice at the first of the Chignik lake group.

At daylight Saturday, however, renewed efforts were being made by everyone in the 400 mile area to locate the missing fliers.

HOUSE ADOPTS

BONUS REPORT

Fate of Measure Now Rests With President Coolidge

BY Associated Press

Washington, D. C.—The house adopted the conference report on the bonus bill Friday with one member dissenting. The measure now goes to the president for his approval or veto.

Representative McKenzie, Republican, Illinois, the lone opponent, who stood after all other members had voted in the affirmative and taken their seats, explained that he was one of the original advocates of a bonus but had become disgusted with the present measure. He denounced the senate for an amendment naming yeomanries and their surviving dependents as beneficiaries. This, he said, gave the president "solid ground upon which to lose a vote."

Most of the yeomanries received much higher pay from the government during the war than they did in civil life and they were in no way entitled to the benefits provided in the proposed law, he asserted.

Coast Guard Vessels Search Coves and Harbors Without Avail

False Pass, Alaska.—As a result of information from natives scattered along the barren Alaskan peninsula that they saw Major Frederick L. Martin, who has been missing since Wednesday morning, headed northward, in the direction of Chignik lakes and the Berhaza, wireless calls were broadcast Saturday to all vessels in that northern body of water and additional parties have been organized to search the rocky Bering seashore.

While government ships and canneries continued combing the southwestern shores of the Aleutian islands and the Alaska peninsula as far east as Chignik for Maj. Martin, commander of the United States around the world fleet, his three companions awaiting him at Dutch Harbor, Unalaska Island, were prepared Saturday to continue their journey if weather conditions permit. The next scheduled stop for the three is Sitka Island, 350 miles southwest of where they are stationed. Orders were telegraphed to them Friday from Washington, D. C. to speed westward and not wait for their commander.

SEARCH IS UNAVAILING

Reports received from King cove stated that vessels had made an unsuccessful search for Major Martin and his mechanic. Staff Sergeant Alva Harvey, in two harbors and five bays. Efforts to find them in Lezanar and Adagio harbors, and Belkofsky, Volcano, Bear and Pavlov bays were "unavailing." Last dispatches declare the ships were as far as Ivan Island at the foot of Pavlov volcano.

Overland searching groups from Chignik returned late Friday without any definite trace. It was learned that the searchers had found a short cut to Dutch Harbor via Chignik lakes and Portage bay, just north of the Shumagin Islands, Alaskan peninsula. 3 LAWYERS SEEK APPOINTMENT AS PROBATE JUDGE

Governor Blaine Expected to Name Bottensek's Successor Next Week

Three Outagamieco lawyers have made known to Governor J. J. Blaine that they would like to be appointed judge of probate court to succeed the late Judge John Bottensek, who died Monday evening. It was learned from Madison. The three applicants are F. J. Rooney, Democrat; Fred V. Heinemann and E. C. Smith, the latter of Seymour, both Republicans. In all probability the appointment will be made early next week.

Two delegations of Appleton men have been in Madison to interview the governor and to press claims for two of the candidates. It is understood that Attorney A. H. Krugmeier, Mr. Heinemann, B. J. Zuehlke and Fred E. Bachman were in Madison Friday to discuss Mr. Heinemann's appointment with the governor. Several persons also have called on the governor to urge him to appoint Mr. Rooney.

FILL UNEXPIRED TERM
The appointment will be for the unexpired term of Judge Bottensek who took office on Jan. 1, 1920. The term expires on Dec. 31, 1925. Judge Bottensek has been receiving a salary of $4,000 a year by virtue of a legislative enactment a few years ago. He started his office at a salary of $2,500 but the increase was voted at the request of the Outagamieco board of supervisors. According to several attorneys, a public officer's salary cannot be increased during his term of office and some confusion has arisen over this fact. Inasmuch as the governor's appointment will be to fill Judge Bottensek's unexpired term, it is pointed out, the new appointee will be subject to the same restriction as was attached to his predecessor.

AGREE TO KEEP LAKE-ROD SMOOTH FOR TRAFFIC

Winnebago and Calumet counties have assured Appleton Chamber of Commerce that they will keep Lake-rod from Appleton to Waverly beach in good condition this season. The highway is on the line between the two counties.

Highway departments of the two counties have reached an agreement whereby Winnebago is to furnish the crushed stone for surfacing and Calumet is to furnish the patrolmen to keep it in shape. This road usually was in bad condition because of the fact that neither county took the responsibility for maintaining it but has been improved considerably. It carries heavy traffic to the beaches and summer resorts.

KENNEDY CARNIVAL IS SEIZED BY UNCLE SAM

The Con T. Kennedy Carnival, which showed in Appleton a few years ago, has been seized by the federal authorities at Corsicana, Tex., for the alleged failure of the management to pay 1919 federal tax amounting to $46,800.

Federal troops in Texas are at Corsicana guarding the 30 cars and property of the carnival company and unless the tax is paid on May 12, the government will sell the property at a public auction.

Kennedy, it is said, tried vainly to get a bond in order that his company and equipment would be released so that several Texas and Oklahoma bookings could be filled. Kennedy claims that the tieup is costing him $1,500 a day.

WANT DATA ON MC CARTHY CROSSING ACCIDENTS

Response is desired from a large number of people with information concerning accidents at McCarthy crossing on highway 15 between Kaukauna and Wrightstown as a means of helping to obtain a viaduct at that point. People who have been in accidents or were witnesses to them are asked to give this information to A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner, at the courthouse.

Lack of specific information has hindered the state highway commission in proving to railroad companies that the crossing is an exceedingly dangerous one because of the presence of both steam and interurban railway tracks. A hearing is to be held soon at which further data will be submitted and the public is asked to help prepare it.

$130,000 DIVIDEND WILL BE PAID TO A. A. L. MEMBERS

Policyholders Will Receive Largest Amount of Any Time in History

Policyholders of the Aid Association for Lutherans will receive the largest total of dividends this year of any time in history when $130,000 is distributed to them on July 1. The amount is not paid in cash but is given as a deduction on premiums for the quarter beginning at that time.

This portion of the association's surplus was allowed for payment to members by the Wisconsin insurance department, which decides how much must be kept on hand to pay possible death or sickness claims. Last year the dividend totaled $104,000. The amount paid each member depends on the kind of policy he holds and the length of time he has held it.

This large sum was made possible by the favorable mortality rate for the year ending Dec. 31, 1923. Deaths were only 31 per cent of the number for which funds had been laid away. Favorable interest rates on investments by the association also helped. The average rate on securities for 1923 was 5.19 per cent.

The state's valuation just received here shows the Aid Association for Lutherans to be one of the best conditioned of all the fraternal insurance companies. Its solvency is rated at 115.51 per cent, meaning that its financial condition is 15 per cent above the status that would be considered the state rules. There has been a steady increase in the solvency rate from 104.4 per cent in 1917 to the present figure of 115.51 per cent.

Assets of the association were $3,117,726.16 on Jan. 1, 1924, the report showed.

NEW CARS ARRIVE FOR TRACTION LINES

Two Motorbuses Also Are Added on Route Between Appleton and Neenah

Three of the new cars purchased by Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company to supplement those placed in service several months ago have arrived in the city and will be put into use at once. Two are interurban cars and one for city service. Two more interurbans will arrive next week.

These additions will take care of the company's needs in case of breakdowns and at times when extra cars are needed for heavy traffic.

Three of the long steel cars formerly used on the lines are being loaded onto flat cars and will be sent to Milwaukee to be converted into trailers for the city lines there. These were retained here after the arrival of the first new cars and were used to convey workers to and from factories until the remaining new ones came.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

A young man who practiced medicine in Pennsylvania became famous and was called in consultation in many towns and cities because of his success in the treatment of disease. This was Dr. Pierce, who finally made up his mind to place some of his medicines before the public, and moving to Buffalo, N. Y., put up what he called his "Favorite Prescription," and placed it with the druggists in every state. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has long been recognized as a tonic for diseases peculiar to womanhood. After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged down by weaknesses of her sex—a woman is quickly restored to health by its use. Thousands of women testify that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has entirely eradicated their distressing ailments.

More recently that wonderful discovery of Dr. Pierce's, called Anuric (for kidneys and backache) has been successfully used by many thousands who write Dr. Pierce of the benefits received—that their backache, rheumatism, and other symptoms of uric acid deposits in joints or muscles have been completely conquered by its use. Send 10c to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial pkg. of any of his remedies or write for free medical advice.

DR. BUTLER AND PROHIBITION

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, has convulsed the bonedrys with an acute case of colic by an open attack on prohibition. Dr. Butler says the law is a failure and predicts that the eighteenth amendment will be repealed inside of five years. For this heretical and ungodly statement, there is already talk of excommunication, while in one town where he was scheduled to speak church people asked to have the engagement cancelled. Such is the intolerance of prohibition.

Dr. Butler has a right to his personal views on the subject of prohibition as well as on any other subject. He would be guilty of moral cowardice if he suppressed his convictions because he was afraid of censure. He is to be admired for his courage and independence, regardless of whether we agree or disagree with his views.

No amount of expostulation in the name of religion or morality can conceal the fact that prohibition is a rank farce. Any person can get all the liquor he wants in Appleton day or night. It is the same in every other city in the country, and it is the same in every rural community. There is no genuine attempt to enforce the law, and there has been as much scandal and corruption in connection with the pretended enforcement as there has been in connection with violation.

We will not attempt to say whether social conditions are better or worse than they were before the eighteenth amendment was adopted. This is a matter of opinion, and the precise facts are of comparatively small consequence. Everyone knows that conditions are bad in the relation of booze to immorality and in the prevalence of the use of hard liquor by very young persons. If any person can shut his or her eyes to these facts and assert that prohibition is a success, that person is entitled to the delusion, for it surely is a delusion. The scandals surrounding liquor in the nation's capital at Washington have been shocking and almost beyond belief. Liquor flows as freely there as it did before the amendment went into effect, and it is accessible to all branches of the government and to our law makers. Not only this but much of it is consumed by the people who carry on the functions of government, and directly or indirectly are responsible for all law and law enforcement.

If there were any prospect of the successful enforcement of absolute prohibition, one could with more equanimity pass over present conditions, but there is no such prospect. If anything, we think conditions are becoming worse. We do not agree with Dr. Butler that the eighteenth amendment is likely to be repealed in five or ten years. We expect to see it remain as a part of the constitution, and we are not in favor of its repeal. What we are in favor of is a revision of the enforcing act, known as the Volstead law, that will interpret the amendment more in accordance with reason and common sense, and that will permit the manufacture of beer of light alcoholic content. From an economic, social and moral point of view, absolute prohibition is an ideal state. To the extent that we can reduce the consumption of hard liquor, we increase our individual and national efficiency, and elevate the social and moral standard. No one disputes these facts. It is a practical question, however, as to how to attain the best results. When we find that a certain experiment is proven by experience not to produce the results we had hoped for, we think it is the part of intelligent judgment to try something else. The something else that is recommended, in our opinion, is modification of the Volstead act. When men of the character of Dr. Butler begin to talk in the same fashion it is time to consider the problem candidly on its merits and not through emotional controversy.

CHICAGO'S TEARS

The Chicago Tribune is engaged in the last ditch fight to save Chicago's water steal. It is handing to its readers a sorrowful and touching portrayal of the woes that will come to Chicago if it is not permitted to take 10,000 cubic feet per second for drainage purposes. Chicago will, we are led to infer, suffer a terrible epidemic. It will be visited by plagues and pestilence. Surely the rest of the country will not wish to see its people stricken by these dreadful calamities.

After dispensing with about ninety per cent of this talk as melodramatic bunk, if Chicago's health is to any extent menaced by the probability of its being forced to reduce the volume of water taken to that authorized by law, then it is a victim of its own improvidence. Chicago has had fifty years in which to build, develop and perfect a system of sewage disposal by mechanical and chemical treatment that would place the health of its people above the insecurity that today rests on a policy plainly violative of the rights of a dozen or more states, of another nation, and of the welfare of ten times the number of its own people.

Chicago has tried to bluff its way into an appropriation of water to which it has no right or claim whatsoever. It has tried to do this in the characteristic Chicago fashion, the mightier-than-thou attitude, the treatment of other people and cities as of country-jake importance. It has simply squatted on the property of others with an attempt to hold possession through an air of superiority and condescension toward the "poor fish" it has dispossessed.

The stories the Tribune has related about the peril of Chicago's health are, therefore, alarming only to herself. If Chicago wants to escape the consequences of her folly and neglect, the best thing she can do is to appropriate the money required to put in a modern sewage reduction plant as expeditiously as possible.

PRICES AND DISPLAYS

The next convention of the Associated Advertising clubs of the World is to be held in London, and the British metropolis is studying the psychology of trade development. The investigators find that the illumination at Piccadilly circus is so brilliant and attractive that the public lingers to look at the signs and neglects to buy the goods advertised by the glaring signs. They find that low prices are more effective than window displays and decorations in selling goods.

The English, Irish, Scotch and Welsh are more cautious buyers than Americans. Both prices and quality interest them in particular. Displays draw Americans quite as much, perhaps, as low prices. It is said of Americans that we are not good buyers, but price-buyers; that is, we buy what we want and purchase by the charm of price. Whether it is true or not, it is a fact that we pay the highest price that we can afford.

GRAMMAR
Be careful of your grammar.
Don't let nobody find
You ain't been taught how you had ought
To speak what's in your mind.
I never knowed no person
What wouldn't find their speech
Improved a lot by learning what
The grammars has to teach.
Them grammar books will learn you
How English should be spoke.
So you won't make no bad mistake
Like crude uncultured folk.
Don't never talk like they does,
There ain't no reason why
You couldn't be as smart as me
And learn to talk like I.
Us educated people,
Wherever we have went,
Finds others whom fill us with gloom
Because they are content
To speak the English language
Without no kind of care.
Though if they looks, they's grammar books
To learn 'em everywhere.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician And Author
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

THE LOW COST OF FLIVING

Far from being relaxation, riding in an automobile is a strain upon endurance, no matter what the make or type of car. The owner driver particularly feels the strain whether he admits it or not. Let him submit to a blood pressure test at the end of a ride of any considerable distance, and the chances are that the pressure will be found elevated well above the normal.
Many a careful law abiding driver speeds slowly to his doom, thanks to the low cost of fliving. The automobile takes you out in the air, gives you an appetite like a hired man. At the same time it gives you no exercise, robs you of the use of your, as the prim old maid would say, lower extremities commonly known as legs. Under such conditions you are pretty sure to bite off more than you can masticate, and the excess of nutriment stores up trouble for the future.

Women are growing slouter and less attractive every day. Men are growing older and less vigorous every day. Middle age is getting to be a serious adventure. The degenerations—apoplexy, Bright's disease and heart disease—are increasing in frequency among mature adults. Prosperity is the reason—luxury doesn't set well on hardy American constitution. We have not yet learned to harmonize our appetites with our metabolism. The automobile is shortening life.
The trouble is that the very people who need to be the equalizing, stabilizing influence of daily walking are the one who can best afford automobiles. Working people, who might profit immeasurably from the open air life made possible by the automobile, can scarcely afford the time or gasoline, notwithstanding the low cost of the car. It is like baseball: The office or sedentary worker who attends a game as spectator, grows intensely excited and yells and mobs the umpire, and all that, is simply getting vicarious exercise, vicarious recreation; the players are getting the physical benefit of the game, while the spectator gets only the nerve wracking excitement. Men must play the game in order to obtain actual benefit from it.

The advent of the automobile in the average household ought to be regarded with regret, for it is certain to rob the family in no small degree of good health which has hitherto been insured by the use of legs. Auto intoxication, that great modern handicap, is powerfully opposed by the democratic, but nowadays expensive, exercise of walking. Two miles of oxygen three times a day remains the peer of any prescription applicable to the universal self-poisoning which initiates the degeneration of middle age—but never forget that the two miles must be taken on the hoof. "Carriage exercise" was all right in the old days of horse and liver regulators. A ride in the car is merely a nervous strain, something to be looked upon as a more or less inevitable drawback about being alive today.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Without Benefit of Brady
I have been a constant reader of your pieces in the paper about all kinds of diseases and I have derived a lot of benefit from them. I would like very much if you will tell me what are the symptoms of myocarditis. (Mrs. O. H. E.)
Answer.—My pieces are seldom about diseases. I try to talk about health from the point of view of keeping well. My aim is to help readers keep well. The being the case it would be far from my proper function to provide readers with the symptoms of diseases to try on. I advise you not to seek to learn the symptoms of myocarditis or any other disease, but to make your complaint to your physician in private.

Raw Dried Fruit

It is harmful to eat raw figs, raisins, or prunes? Sometimes I eat half a pound of them, but my sister claims they are indigestible. (Miss F. M.)
Answer.—They're as healthful and digestible as they are stewed. But half a pound of such food is a pretty substantial meal alone.

Raise Living Standard By Cheap Credit

(From The Industrial Digest.)
"I don't see how they do it," says Mrs. Simpson to Mrs. Johnson, as their neighbors, the Smiths, ride off for the day in their new car. Mrs. Simpson is certain the Smiths have no money, yet they have a house, a piano, a good radio receiver and a shiny, smooth-running automobile. Mrs. Smith, moreover, has a fur coat.

There are millions of people like the Smiths who have almost everything money can buy without having the money. The head of a large selling organization recently expressed astonishment at the manner in which his salesmen live.

"They have good homes in attractive neighborhoods," he said, "they drive big cars and their families wear expensive clothes. You'd think they were men of prosperity but I'm sure they haven't inherited fortunes and they can't have saved enough out of their earnings to pay for what they own. They must all be pretty deeply in debt."

That's the answer—they are in debt. They have bought the things they own by mortgaging their future incomes. The Smith house was bought with a small cash payment, a first mortgage, and a heavy second mortgage to be amortized out of income. They own the furniture, the car, the piano, the radio and Mrs. Smith's fur coat. If they have been forced recently to make an unexpected heavy expenditure they may also be in debt to some small loan association or Morris Plan Bank.

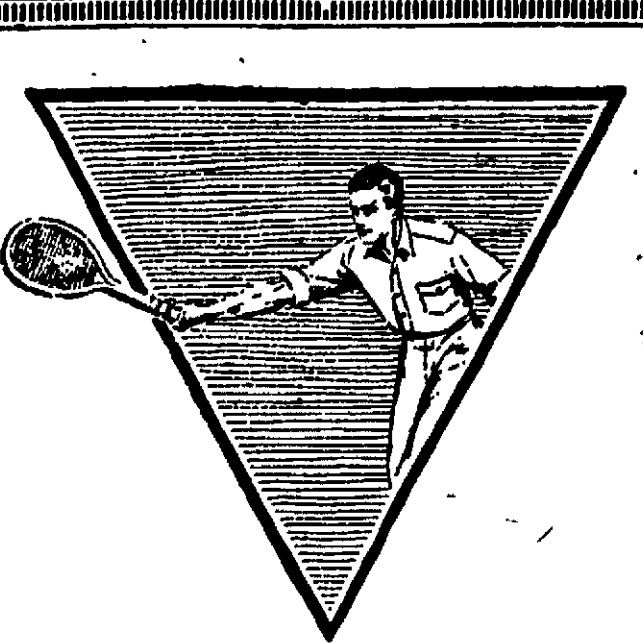

Mr. Smith and the extravagant salesmen carry these debts and gradually pay them off out of what they earn. They make good money, enough to take care of their debts and pay ordinary living expenses, they are careful and stand well with the grocer. As long as this continues they will be able to incur new debts as they pay off the old.

It is impossible to say how many people live like this today but their number must be greater than ever. Standards of living have been greatly raised among wage-earners and salaried people. The output of articles such as used to be called luxuries—automobiles are a conspicuous example—is increased. Credit is cheap and is being extended to classes of people who formerly had none.

The effect of the expansion of retail credit is to enable people to purchase and enjoy property without owning it outright. In many cases by the time the last payment is made on an article bought on time the article has been completely used up. A family accustomed to buying on the installment plan can consider the payment of the installments and interest as part of its regular living expenses and as long as its income continues it can remain in debt.

Senators' Wives In Ill Timed Wail

Why the Sixth Button

THERE'S a sixth button—an extra button—on the center-plait of Eagle Shirts, dedicated to the idea that shirts shouldn't gap at the waist. It means that the other five buttons are more closely spaced—that the front is buttoned lower than on other shirts—that spread is avoided below the belt so it can be prevented above. The sixth button is another result of the Eagle slogan: MAKE IT BETTER. You'll appreciate it on vestless days.

SURETY FIRM STARTS SUIT FOR $70,240

Juncos—Their claim having been disallowed by the county board, the Southern Surety Co., an Iowa corporation, has sued Dodge county, asking damages of $70,240, together with interest from Nov. 13, 1922. The action is the outgrowth of the failure of the Laidolph Hansen Construction Co. to fill its contract on the Juncos-Columbus rd in 1922. The surety as surety was forced to fulfill the contract at a loss. It is contended, and claims that the county's failure to provide cement was responsible for the contractor's inability to finish the job in 1922 before the firm became insolvent. The county denied any obligation to provide cement.

KROMER'S COLTS
GO IN ACTION ON SUNDAY AFTERNOONKaukauna Fans Give Home
Players Chance Against Appleton

Kaukauna—"Stormy" Kromer's home talent state leaguers are taking to go and are anxious to test their ability with the rest of the wheel in the opening four here Sunday afternoon with Kaukauna's ancient rivals, Appleton. It looks as though Appleton has lined up one of the best clubs in the circuit but if Kromer's students perform half way creditably Appleton will get a run for its money.

Everyone about the city about developing home talent but most people are of the opinion that Kromer is just a bit too "radical." A few home players sandwiched in with a club of hired players would pave the way toward entirely local teams and at the same time would give the Electric City a better chance to keep somewhere within striking distance of the top of the ladder, they believe.

Kromer, however, is saying nothing. He believes he has found the best local material available and that after a few games Kaukauna will be in a class with the rest of them. Stormy's plan, though, is not to win games but to learn to play and he will sacrifice victory every time to teach his boys the game, he has said.

A large crowd is expected at the opening ceremonies at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Kaukauna fans are willing to do their bit and will attend the first game to see how Stormy's plan will work out. Everyone is promising him continued support if the colts show signs of accomplishing things before long.

Following is Kromer's tentative lineup for Sunday's battle: H. Stegeman, catcher; K. Stegeman, pitcher; H. Hoag, firstbase; Ross, secondbase; Walton, shortstop; J. Phillips, thirdbase; Kilgas, rightfield; Simons, centerfield; E. Sager, leftfield.

Utility men include Kilgas, catcher; Gerz, pitcher; A. Sager, secondbase and outfielder; Zink and R. Stegeman, pitchers and outfielders.

MEN OF IDEALS ARE
WANTED IN CHURCHAnnual Banquet for Reformed
Church Men Is Attended
by 100

Kaukauna—More than 100 men of Reformed church congregation attended their annual banquet at 6 o'clock Friday evening in the church basement. Following the banquet an address on "The Men in the Church" was given by Prof. J. M. G. Darnes, D. D., president of Reformed Mission house near Plymouth. The Ladies Aid society served the banquet.

Following Mr. Darnes' talk the meeting adjourned to the audience room of the church where stereoscopic pictures showing the growth and development of the Mission house were thrown on the screen. The slides accompanied a lecture by the Rev. A. Sienecker, house father of the congregation although the attendance was not as large as had been anticipated.

In his address the Rev. Mr. Darnes explained what kind of men are wanted in the Christian church of today. Men who are 100 per cent for Christ and the church and who have the courage to defend Christianity before the world, men who can command progress and who will do all in their power to advance Christ's kingdom are those who are wanted, the speaker said.

In addition men of the church of today must be willing to plod along toward their goal slowly but steadily taking a step at a time and accomplishing each task well as they go along. Finally, the speaker said, the men must ever seek and follow lofty and uplifting ideals in Christ's kingdom.

FEWER STUDENTS ON
H. S. HONOR ROLL

Kaukauna—Report cards for the six weeks' period which ended last week were issued to students of the high school Friday morning. Twenty-one students received special merit, indicating they received a grade of 90 per cent or above in every subject while 13 students won recognition for having an average grade of 80 per cent. Although the school enrollment has increased the number of students who earned special merits has been considerably less for every period during this term than has been customary.

On the other hand failures are numerous this year. In one of the assembly rooms which contains sophomores for the most part, 47 per cent of the students did not receive a passing grade. Conditions in other rooms are similar.

Students who received special merit include Lyle Alkard, Dorothy Haas, Alice Olson, Robert Radech, Edna Sager, sophomores; Mildred Feller, Norbert Gerend, Alice Guilfoyle, Josephine Haas, juniors; Helen Arne, Gertrude Ditter, Prentice Hale, Madeleine Olm, Margaret Wurl, seniors; Alice and Mae Birkenmeyer, Elaine Conlon, Helen Esler, Valeria Vanervenhorst, Cecelia Wolf and Helen Pahnke, freshmen.

LEGION AUXILIARY WILL HOLD SOCIAL AND MEETING

Kaukauna—The American Legion auxiliary will hold its monthly meeting at 7:30 Monday evening in Legion hall. New members will be admitted into the organization and important business will be disposed of. The business session will be followed by a social hour. Cards will be played after which a luncheon will be served. Hostesses will be Mesdames Louise Wilk, Edward Haas, Edward Hemmick, F. M. Schmidt, Stanley Lyson and Miss Gladys Webster. Spring work for farmers has been delayed considerably on account of the disagreeable weather. Seeding will be rushed as soon as the ground becomes dry enough. Clover and alfalfa seed are in fine condition and a big hay crop is expected. Farmers feel, however, that milk prices are too low in comparison to the cost of necessities like food and clothing.

LA FOLLETTE KEEPS AWAY FROM TALK OF HEADING NEW PARTY

Wisconsin Senior Senator Prefers to Be Known As "Regular Republican"

Washington—Senator La Follette's objection to a "third party movement" is a matter of political technique. It doesn't make it a bit less likely that there will be three parties in the field this year, or that La Follette, his health permitting, will lead one of them.

The late Colonel Roosevelt never admitted that he ran for president on a "third party" ticket. He insisted that the Bull Moose were the real, original Republicans and that the Taft flock were the bolters.

La Follette, if he should run independently, wants to occupy just this position. He wants to be able to enter the Republican convention, and fight there for the nomination of a candidate he approves of, on a platform embodying his ideas. He doesn't want the Republicans to have a chance to say, consistently, "You're no business in this convention; you're nominated already on another ticket."

That's why his supporters object so vigorously to his "third party" talk at this time, especially when La Follette mentioned as a presidential candidate in connection with it. In the first place, they say, there's nobody back of such talk—it simply is inspired by members of the Republican "old guard," who would be only too glad to see the Wisconsin senator sidetracked thus.

After the Cleveland convention it will be different. First, presumably La Follette will wait to see what the Democrats do. If neither the Cleveland nor the New York convention puts up a candidate or adopts a platform suited to Progressive ideas, then La Follette and his supporters can get together, declare that they're the real Republicans, name their candidate, adopt their platform and go ahead on that basis.

To a public man, like La Follette, all these distinctions represent a real difference.

For one thing, there's the matter of his right to a seat and a part in the Cleveland convention. That's important to La Follette.

And there's this to remember: La Follette, as a Republican senator, is one of the oldest of the senators. By right of seniority, he's entitled to a place on the most important committees, to influential chairmanships, to various posts of power and prestige in the upper house of Congress.

As a Third Party senator he'd have to go to the foot of the class, like Magnus Johnson or Shipstead or any other newcomer.

But, to the average voter, these distinctions are without a difference. To the average voter it will signify very little whether Coolidge, say, runs as a Republican and La Follette as a bolter, or whether it's the other way about.

In either event, there'll be three tickets. Indeed, there'll be four, for some politicians are surmising that there'll be both Republican and Democratic splits. Of course, the Republican and the Democratic dissenters, if such there are, may get together. Or they may not. That's immaterial. The point is that, to the man in the street, it won't cut much ice which half of either party is regular and which isn't, or which convention is held first and which second.

Still Claim Appleton Had First Electric Railway

With the thirty sixth anniversary of the successful establishment of electric railways set for observance next Sunday, May 4, Wisconsin lays claim to the first commercially successful overhead trolley in the country, according to officials of the Wisconsin Public Utilities Bureau.

Although it is claimed by many that the first successful trolley was operated at Richmond, Va., May 4, 1888, electric railway men of the Wisconsin association assert that the first electric railway started operating in Appleton, at least one year previous to that date.

John L. Egges, prominently identified with railway development in Wisconsin for many years, declares that the Appleton line was a small one but it was the first in the nation.

From the small electric line at Appleton, electric railway systems of the state have grown to an investment of approximately $150,000,000, statistics compiled by the utilities association show. During 1923, it is estimated that 260,000,000 passengers were carried by electric railway lines in the state.

"The industry through a trying period during and after the war is just now recovering," Dudley Montgomery, Madison, chairman of the electric railway section of the state association, declares in speaking of the anniversary of electric railway systems. "Out of the unfavorable conditions of war days, have come many operating economies such as the use of one-man cars."

Some of the outstanding differences between street cars of today and the early days were pointed out by Mr. Montgomery as follows:

Cars are safer and more comfortable.

Length of possible ride has been increased from 100 to 200 per cent.

Speed of transit has been increased from 100 to 200 per cent.

Wages of employes have been increased 200 or more per cent.

Hours of daily work of employes have been reduced forty per cent.

Material used in operation increased 200 per cent.

Traffic of fare increased 25 per cent.

HORTONVILLE MAN ADMITS RUM CHARGE

Richard O. Blank, proprietor of a soft drink establishment at Hortonville, pleaded guilty to having intoxicating liquor in his possession in municipal court Thursday. He will receive his sentence on Friday, May 9.

Among other Outagamie county residents against whom evidence is said to have been secured by prohibition officers on the same raid are John Bauerfield of Hortonville and John Heinel of Greenville, who have not yet been arraigned.

BUSINESS WOMEN WILL HOLD MEETING IN WAUSAU

The Wausau Business and Professional Women's club will be hostess to the state convention of the Wisconsin Federation of Business and Professional Women's club at its home in Wausau on May 16 and 17.

The national president of the club, Miss Adella Fritchard of Portland, Ore., is to be one of the speakers. Miss Alma Barry of Milwaukee and Miss Zona Gale, both of whom are well known here, will be among the guests.

Since Appleton's business and professional women have not organized it, is doubtful if any from here will attend.

DENY RUSE TO GET SPEEDERS IN TRAP

Washington-co Men Declare Motorcops Arrest Only Dangerous Drivers

Alert business leaders of West Bend, following complaints of victims of Washington county highway police, promptly looked into the matter and found that reports of unfair treatment of motorists probably were founded upon the inevitable smarting that is felt by the motorist who emerges from a conflict with the law.

"We found that there is no 'come-on car' employed by the speed officers," said President-elect Eberhardt of the West Bend Commercial club. "It is not necessary. Let anyone stand for a little while at the intersection of highways 15 and 55 and he'll readily agree that there are plenty of speeders without any need to tempt or lure drivers into breaking the law. The officer who arrested the Milwaukee woman declared she was hitting 40 miles an hour and was racing in and out around other cars. As to the sedan car being used by the sheriff, he was coming down on 55 in his sedan, not on speed cop duty, but he observed a driver doing 40 miles an hour creating a dangerous situation on the highway. The sheriff followed this driver and says he observed a speed of 32 miles an hour within the limits of West Bend. 'Most of the arrests have been made not on highway 55, but on 15, and not far from the intersection with 55, where there is an especially dangerous place. Many drivers coming east on 15 to the intersection go so fast that they are unable to turn at the intersection, but go straight across 55 and along the dirt road, because they do not have their cars under control. It seems that officers find it more convenient to bring violators to West Bend for court proceedings than to take them around to Slinger, but the highway policing is a matter of Washington county and not of West Bend. We want our highways known as a safe route. We find that the officers do not pick up speeders who go less than forty miles an hour. So there is fair latitude. The officers are instructed to arrest drivers who go so fast that they create danger for others on the highway as well as invite disaster upon themselves."

Warmth without Worry

WHEN you design your new home, you are planning for comfort without worry.

Your plumbing, your chimney, your fireplace, and, most important of all, your furnace, must function properly or you take little real comfort in your new home—and comfort is what you build for.

The HOME Hot Blast Heating Plant that will go into your new house is a real heating service.

It will be specially designed by factory experts to fit your new home; and when our crew of factory-trained workmen have finished the installation, the HOME Furnace will have been built into your house just as truly as the porticos, the dormers, or the sun room.

It may be months before snow flies; but you know beforehand that the HOME will heat your house just as surely as when, on the first October day, it actually begins to flood your living rooms day and night with cozy and healthful warmth.

In fact, we give you a five-year written bond to this effect signed by our general manager. This guarantees your comfort for five years; and the guarantee is backed by a financially-permanent and reliable corporation.

Read the ten HOME advantages at the right; then call up our local factory service branch, or write direct to Holland, Michigan. We will be glad to demonstrate conclusively the truth of these points.

Ask for our booklet, "Warmth Without Worry." It explains other HOME advantages.

One of the largest manufacturers of starting, lighting and ignition systems, and other electrical accessories for automobiles, now promises to become an important factor in the non-electrical accessory field, as well.

This interesting news is contained in the announcement by the Appleton Battery & Ignition Service Station, 740 Washington St., official Bosch Representatives in this city, that the American Bosch Magneto Corporation is now placing on the market a new shock absorber, and that they will follow it shortly with other accessories that are now being perfected.

Because of the wide use in recent years of the Bosch electrical systems on automobiles, trucks and tractors, the American Bosch Magneto Corporation has been able to build up an extensive and remarkably efficient sales and service organization. It now has over two thousand official representatives in the country and many others in important centers throughout the world.

These firms are trained in the rendering of service, and are especially well equipped to act as sales agents for shock absorbers and other products that are best installed by trained men.

The Bosch Corporation is already making and selling the following: Magnets, Generators, Starting Motors, Battery Ignition Systems, three kinds of Ignition systems for Ford, an Ignition System and Throttle Governor for Ford, Spark Plugs, Spark Plug Switches, Ignition Coils, Generator Cutouts and Electric Cables.

THE BOSCH SHOCK ABSORBER

The function of the Bosch Shock Absorber is to check the rebound of automobile and truck springs. It does not interfere when the car spring is compressed, but becomes effective immediately when the spring starts to expand, and absolutely controls its action during the entire rebound period, with a smooth unbroken curve of dissipated energy.

The manufacturers claim that their device offers a gradually increasing resistance—the same kind of resistance that car spring expansion as the car spring itself offers when compressed. They claim also that the unit has a wide range of operation, taking effect immediately when the expansion starts and controlling it efficiently right up until the spring energy is dissipated. This is accomplished by a balanced combination of friction and coiled spring action.

The main parts of a Bosch Shock Absorber are the conical shaped friction drum of the oilless bearing type, a large coiled spring of the clock type and a belt for connecting the mechanism of the shock absorber to the car axle. The cone shaped, hard wood, oilless bearing drum in the Bosch Shock Absorber, having a liberal bearing surface, insures it exceptionally long life with a minimum amount of service. Metal to metal bearings are entirely dispensed with.

The coiled spring keeps the belt taut at all times, and this spring and the friction drum control the rebound of the car spring.

The Bosch Shock Absorber is adjustable to any car, and the adjustment can be changed whenever desired by simply tightening or loosening the cap screw on the outside of the housing. The adjustment can be easily and quickly made, and once suited to the driver's requirements, need not be altered thereafter.

The Bosch Shock Absorber is made in three sizes—a special size for Fords, a size for medium weight cars, and a size for heavy cars and trucks. Installations can be easily and quickly made, as most cars have their frames drilled to suit the Bosch fitters.

The belt is high grade, tightly woven, specially treated to resist weather and hard usage, and as the Bosch Shock Absorber never reaches its limit of functional action on the car, the belt is not subjected to strains or shocks in excess of that determined by its adjustment, that is, not exceeding one fourth its tensile strength.

PASSES UP PULLMAN; DRIVES HIS LINCOLN

Driving his Lincoln car in preference to traveling in a Pullman, Joe Cook, star comedian and entertainer, has set a precedent for stage folk.

From the time the musical comedy of which he is the star, left New York until it arrived in Chicago recently for the remainder of the season, Cook made all the "great trips" from city to city in his car, accompanied by Mrs. Cook and their young child, a girl of four.

"We had some great trips," Cook said recently, "I found that winter touring is every bit as delightful as summer touring and we've enjoyed some wonderful nights."

"I've never been late in any city and always arrived refreshed from my drive."

Cook drives a Ford-based seven passenger inside drive Lincoln, one of the most distinctive of the Lincoln custom-built body types. It is his second Lincoln car.

OLDS PURCHASING AFFECT SAVINGS

Five hundred million lock washers were purchased in one year by one automobile manufacturing corporation in this country. Most of the European automobile manufacturers buy this small but important unit a few thousand or so at a time and pay the small quantity price. This same American producer purchases 575,000 tons of steel every 12 months. European manufacturers buy three or four thousand tons. This same condition obtains right down through the entire automobile manufacturing industry. This is the reason why American made automobiles can be shipped abroad, pay a stiff import duty, and yet compete with foreign cars, according to R. K. Jack, chief engineer of the Olds Motor Works, Lansing, Michigan.

"European manufacturers still continue to use hand instead of machine methods and to buy in small quantities," said Mr. Jack. "Only cheap labor makes it possible for them to operate at all. Quantity purchasing and its use to the utmost by the two big outstanding producers in this country is almost incomprehensible to the European mind."

Frequently I have been asked how we could produce a six cylinder car like the Oldsmobile at less than $800. This exceptional purchasing power is one of the answers. Where we would use one lock washer, for instance, General Motors buys approximately 500 for its other units, as well as Oldsmobile. Every item going into the car, from sheet steel to bearings, from radiator to rear axle represents a saving through this gigantic purchasing power.

"Frankly, if the Olds Motor works had to go 'on its own,' designing, testing and buying without the aid of the parent organization, the price of the present Oldsmobile would be substantially (several hundred dollars) more than it now is. To sell the car at its present price without these savings, there would have to be sacrificed many things not discernable to the eye, but which would materially reduce its power, strength and durability."

"It is only by the introduction and perfection of such wholesale methods of purchasing and producing that the automotive industry in this country has grown to its present commanding position. These features, also have made possible a real 'living wage' for those employed in the industry and made the employment of the automobile for both business and pleasure, possible to nearly everybody."

CHEVROLET EXPECTS INCREASED VOLUME

C. Earl Dawson, general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, has just returned to Detroit headquarters from a two months' trip, visiting the various sales zones of the Company from New England and the East down to Texas, and as far West as the Pacific coast. He was accompanied on the Western half of the trip by R. H. Grant, assistant to W. S. Knudsen, President of Chevrolet Motor Company, and A. R. Kroh, Manager of the Retail Development Division.

"One thing that impressed us all most forcibly on this coast-to-coast trip," said Mr. Dawson, "is the very marked change in increased sales of the Chevrolet cars. The prospects are coming not because prospective buyers are necessarily more numerous or more ready or more willing to buy them than in the past; they are coming because the salesmen are going after them, with an intelligence fully equal to their energy."

"The salesmen today are showing a very real desire to know everything they can about their product. He wants the 'straight' of it—the what, the how, the why of it, and we are helping him to get it all. With such a combination as this—can you wonder that we are confident of record sales for 1924?"

Mr. Dawson stated that he expected Chevrolet to set over the top this year with the highest sales in the history of the company.

"Our production schedule for 1924 is on the most pretentious basis we have ever had. This has been brought about by greater values put into the cars, the increasing demand for economical transportation, the greater purchasing power of the public is due to the higher value today of the Chevrolet automobile dollar—135 against 100 in 1922—and the enthusiastic cooperation of our more than 5900 dealers and 11,000 service stations throughout the country to give the maximum of service and satisfaction to our customers."

"While it is still too early to estimate accurately just what the year holds for us in view of our tremendous increase in production, there is this much that can be said: Sales are already running 15 per cent better than during the corresponding period in 1923—I understand the general average for the same period for all makes of cars is 12 per cent less than last year's sales—and to meet the heavy Spring and Summer demand, which we have never been able adequately to meet in the past, is still ahead of us."

"1922 was the banner year in the automobile industry. Nevertheless, Chevrolet went ahead by more than 50 per cent in 1923. The outlook is quite satisfying that in 1924 we will break all previous records."

DODGE BROTHERS 5 PASSENGER BROUGHAM

Dodge Again Gets Greater Record

For the third successive week Dodge Brothers dealers have broken all previous retail records.

During the week ending April 5th, 5684 cars were delivered to purchasers. This was more than 100 in excess of the greatest previous week's business in Dodge Brothers history. This record, however, was of brief duration, as the very next week saw the delivery of 6106 cars at retail.

And now it is disclosed by official figures from the factory that the week ending April 19th sets still another and much greater record, with 6576 deliveries to customers.

In neither case do these figures include cars delivered to purchasers in foreign countries.

The consistency with which Dodge Brothers business continues to mount is cited by factory officials as an indication of the public's widespread and emphatic endorsement of the unusual value in the new line of Dodge Brothers motor cars. Week after week and month after month, since the quantity production was attained on the new types, new records have been established.

Every week in this period has exceeded in volume of business the corresponding week of any previous year.

FULL REO FORCE IS WORKING FULL TIME

Lansing, Michigan, April—Reports from the Reo Motor Car company, at Lansing, Michigan, indicate that in the Reo shops a full force of workmen are working full time and that shipments from the Reo factory thus far in April are 23 percent in excess of shipments last month. There is no indication that the working schedule of that production plant will be changed in the slightest.

With the exception of March, each month in 1924 has found the Reo doing a greater volume of business than was done in the corresponding month of 1923. In February this increase in business amounted to 40 percent. During the first three weeks of April it was 124 percent over that of the same period a year ago.

During the month of March, though fewer actual units were sold than in March of 1923, yet due to the fact that a larger proportion of cars sold were closed models and that a number of the units were the new Reo busses with their relatively high price, the volume for March in dollars and cents was practically the same as it was for this month last year.

Officials of the company believe that uniformity in the rural districts accounted largely for the slight falling off in the number of cars sold in March.

One of the season's headlines among Passenger cars, if sales reports are to be accepted as authority, is the Reo Sedan which is being offered with Geniale Balloon Tires as available equipment. It is a recognized fact that the trend of automobile sales this Spring is toward the closed car, and apparently, in the direction of those cars that are able to offer Balloon Tire equipment.

Feminine preference is given as the chief cause for the swing to the Reo Sedan as the favored model in the Reo line. Safety and comfort assuring features, including, in addition to low pressure tires, the famous Reo dual foot control, the clean, convenient front compartment and the sound body proof construction peculiar to and characteristic of Reo closed models. These have been equally as instrumental as the attractive exterior appearance of the Reo Sedan in making it a favorite with feminine drivers and placing it in the front rank among cars of popular demand.

OPEN CAR A LUXURY SAYS HUDSON DEALER

One of the conspicuous developments of the automobile industry is the increase in the number of enclosed cars manufactured. This is because the enclosed models are now regarded by the public as all season vehicles rather than simply winter cars, according to J. T. McCann Co., Hudson Essex dealer.

"The man who wants fresh air and plenty of it," he said, "can actually get a better supply of it in an enclosed car than he can in an open one. By regulating the windows he can admit as much air as he wants. By opening certain windows and leaving others closed, or by opening each of them just a trifle he can get this supply of fresh air without any draft."

"If he feels that he wants a blast of fresh air such as you get on a deck of a yacht or excursion boat, he can arrange that too."

MOON SALES CHIEF SEES OPTIMISM

Pre-Spring Orders for Prompt Delivery Pass Previous Moon Records

General Sales Manager, Fred H. Rengers, just returned from a trip to the Atlantic Sea Board and principal points of distribution, reports an unprecedented pre-Spring activity in the delivery of Moon cars, which presages a new record-breaking demand for Spring deliveries that will tax to the utmost, even the greatly increased production facilities of the Moon factories.

Despite the inclement weather that prevailed at that time I found that demand for immediate deliveries for the dealers were facing an unusual instance, on the new Series A cars which were announced earlier in the year, not one of these models has ever been in a warehouse. They have been snapped up as quickly as we have been able to produce and ship them; and from the looks of things it does not appear that we will be able to catch up with the demand for this series until well on towards the end of the season. If then, and orders for the larger models are coming in the same proportion.

Although the Moon distributors have bought generously all through the winter in preparation for the Spring demand, I feel quite sure from my check-up of conditions all over the country that there have been fewer Moon cars in warehouses this winter than any other Company doing a national business. And this in spite of the fact that the Moon schedule for this season calls for more than 50% increase in production.

This should be a big year for Moon dealers. Incidentally I feel perfectly safe in predicting for Moon distributors everywhere the greatest March and April business that this Company and its dealers have ever known.

It simply shows that the public has been quick to appreciate the lengths to which Moon has gone to give them a strictly modern distinctive era of standard proven units and "year-ahead" equipment.

It is really an enclose-able car. "It is more versatile than the open car, which can only be enclosed imperfectly at best and which ever gives just exactly the amount of fresh air desired. The enclosed car has become the acknowledged all-season car."

"Once the only man who could afford an enclosed car was the lucky owner of several automobiles. Now the only motorist who can really afford an open one is the man who has an enclosed one too for his every-day use. The open car has become the luxury car."

"Hudson Essex invented the Coach, the first enclosed car ever to sell at a moderate price."

"The Hudson Essex organization felt that every motorist preferred an enclosed car, if he could have it without an undue expense over the cost of an open one."

"So the Coach was brought out, at practically an open car price. We had here it has been the Coach, with its idea of moderate cost, which has been responsible for great public swing of demand for the closed car. It has been the Coach which has kept Hudson Essex at its busiest even when the motor industry as a whole felt the necessity of trimming sails a trifle."

DORT OFFICIAL SAYS CREDIT SALES NEEDED

Elijah G. Foxson, sales manager of the Dort Motor Car Company, has entered the controversy on the question of selling automobiles on the partial payment plan. This discussion was started recently by an attack on the practice recently by J. H. Tregoe, executive manager of the National Association of Credit Men, and has attracted widespread newspaper comment.

Mr. Foxson says, "I have read in the newspapers Mr. Tregoe's criticism of the practice of selling cars on time and the answer to it made by Owen Reeves of the Automobile Chamber of Commerce. I want to add my voice to Mr. Reeves' in defense of the plan. It has been under attack every since it was originated and it is time the whole matter was threshed out."

"In the first place Mr. Tregoe's remarks are probably based on the time honored fallacy that the automobile is a luxury. That attitude is as old as the automobile industry is. It used to be true, too, but it has been a myth for years. A luxury is something without which you can get along all right. You have only to watch any street for ten minutes to know how well we would get along without automobiles. If the automobile is a luxury so are the street cars and railways—yes, and so are bathrooms."

Mr. Tregoe says, in effect, that a man should not buy an automobile on credit that he should save up until he can pay cash down for it. Business simply isn't done that way these days. I don't know of any business in the world that is run on a spot cash basis. They are all built on credit and credit sales. No one should know this better than a credit man.

"Mr. Tregoe attacks the partial payment plan as not 'entirely safe'. It is safe enough for the strongest and most conservative banks to place millions of dollars in open lines of credit at the disposal of the finance companies. It is safe enough for these same banks to lend more millions on the car purchaser's notes. He says it is 'entirely economic'. What can be more economically sound than the purchase of a long-lived convenience on terms that permits of its use while payments are being made? Homes and sewing machines and kitchen cabinets and furnaces and washing machines and stoves and a thousand other articles are bought this way. Then why this discrimination against automobiles? Certainly industry is as well served by note purchasers of other commodities. The main difference is that the car buyer takes his dividends in happiness and outdoor recreation as well as in dollars."

Mr. Foxson speaks on the subject with authority. He has an unusually broad knowledge of automobile sales problems and methods, both as affecting the manufacturer and the dealer and distributors throughout the country. He has been an important factor in the Dort organization for years, and is recognized as one of the leading sales executives in the business.

NEW FORD TON TRUCK HAS NEW EQUIPMENT

Screen sides and canopy top are now being supplied by the Ford Motor Company as additional equipment for the new Ford one-ton truck equipped with all steel body and cab.

Since its introduction a few months ago, the new Ford haulage unit has steadily gained in popularity among truck users throughout the country. With the addition of screen sides and the canopy top its utility is greatly extended and the uses to which it may be adopted become wider than ever including most every delivery service demand.

The screen sides, which are of heavy mesh strong frames, are securely bolted to the cab and body. The top is covered with weather proof material, similar material being used for side and end curtains which are rolled up and held in place by straps when not in use.

The end doors form a feature which appeals to many for they are permit complete enclosure and protection of the load. The doors are swung on sturdy hinges and are held close with a doubled locking device which can be padlocked.

With the screen sides and top the truck has a loading space of approximately 114 cubic feet. The body is four feet wide, 7 ft 2 in. long, and has a loading height of four feet.

Truck users everywhere are rapidly turning to the use of the one-ton trucks as the most economical and efficient. The new equipment now available with the Ford truck pro-

CHRYSLER MAKES RECORD NO. OF CARS

Production reports from the Chrysler Motor Production indicate that the company has not only been able to maintain its recent rate of one hundred cars a day but has bettered this mark in the past week, with every sign pointing to capacity production by the Middle of May.

For the last several weeks of March the Chrysler plant was turning out one hundred cars every day. In the past six working days the average has been one hundred and ten a day. J. E. Fields, general sales manager of the company, said in a statement yesterday that capacity production of one hundred and fifty cars daily will undoubtedly be reached within a week. Orders on hand fully indicate that it will be necessary to maintain this peak production for months to come.

Although the production gains have to some extent taken care of back orders new orders have also been received in increasing proportion. Cars are now being delivered to buyers and are beginning to dot the highways of the country from coast to coast.

Those well acquainted with the automobile industry have continuously remarked upon the speed with which vides not only a complete haulage unit, but also gives the truck user several body combinations to choose from and permits him to make selections which are best suited to his particular requirements.

RICKENBACKER GETS BIG ENDORSEMENT

Appleton, Wis., April 23rd, 1924. South Side Garage.

I own and drive a Rickenbacker Roadster. Am on the road constantly in all kinds of weather, and all kinds of road conditions, and will say that for comfort and gas mileage the Rickenbacker is better than any car I ever owned.

I mixed 1/4 pint of light lubricating oil to each 10 gallon of gas. Also used about 1/2 pint of Castor oil to each change of crankcase oil.

I changed crankcase oil the first 300 miles, and every 400 miles thereafter. Also wish to say that I consider all cars minus 4-wheel brakes obsolete. Will say Rickenbacker first last and always.

Yours for success,
William Andler

Chrysler entered into its very ambitious production program. Usually when a new car is produced it is a matter of many months before peak production can be reached, but the Chrysler Six, first shown at the New York Automobile Show, seems destined to hit its high mark just four months after the date of its introduction.

KRESGE WILL SPEND MILLIONS OF NICKELS FOR BRIDE'S CAREER

Detroit—Sebastian S. Kresge, multi-millionaire five-and-ten-cent store magnate, used to boast his lunch only cost him 21 cents a day.

And he always kept his golf balls longer than any other member of his club.

Business, evangelism and prohibition were his favorite topics.

But three months ago his friends discovered he had ordered 14 tailor-made suits. He began to spend his money right and left. And he buried his nose in the books of Verdi and the plays of Ibsen.

All of which his old associates couldn't fathom at all.

The answer, however, has just come—in the news of his recent marriage in New York to Doris Mercer, a young divorcee with grand opera ambitions.

She has a fair voice, 'tis reported, but she never has managed to reach even an opera chorus. But Kresge, emulating Harold Fowler McCormick, Chicago "harvester king," is going to spend his millions to make her dreams come true, just as McCormick is spending his on Ganna Walska.

Kresge is 57. His bride is 31. McCormick, too, was past the 50 mark when he won Ganna's heart.

All the way through there is striking similarity in the Kresge McCormick romances.

McCormick, after his children were grown, lived apart from his wife. So did Kresge.

McCormick was separated from Edith Rockefeller McCormick in just 10 minutes in the fastest divorce hearing Chicago ever witnessed.

Kresge was parted from his former wife in just the same length of time—in the briefest divorce hearing in Detroit's history.

Kresge started his first store here. He married Anna Harvey in Memphis, and took her in as his partner. He soon opened up another store in Memphis, and then began to branch out in other cities. Today he operates a chain of 223 stores.

Now the former Mrs. Kresge sits quietly at home with her children as Kresge plans to spend his millions in obtaining an operatic career for Mrs. Kresge No. 2.

LARGE AUDIENCE ENJOYS CONCERT BY COLLEGE BAND

Youthful Musicians Play Difficult
Selections with Great
Precision

One of the finest concerts of band music that Appleton has enjoyed for a long time was given Friday night in Lawrence Memorial chapel when St. Olaf Concert band from St. Olaf college played before a large audience. The program was varied so that it never became monotonous and the players so spontaneous that the concert could not help but be enjoyable.

Much of the credit must go to J. Arndt Bergh, conductor and composer. Mr. Bergh insists that his musicians play their concerts from memory, eliminating the bother of music racks and leading composure and poise to the performance.

Several difficult numbers were played with marvelous unity and precision. Among these were Andante Cantabile from Symphony in E minor by Tchaikovsky and the overture to "Oberon" by Weber. "Evening Chimes" by Bergh, "Anitra's Dance" by Grieg and an encore, "Pasadena Day" were selections that the audience enjoyed the most. No encores were played after the final number.

Miss Gertrude Boe Overby, soprano has a voice of excellent quality and range that she used to a good advantage in her solo numbers. Her best numbers were "I Am Titania" from "Midnight" by Thomas, and "I Saw the Swift Swallow Flying" by Dell'Acqua.

PAPERMAKERS INVADE ELECTRIC CITY SUNDAY

Appleton-Kaukauna Opener Will Bring New Men Into Action

George "Stormy" Kromer and David Smith Will Make Their Debut As Managers of Rival Outfits.

Two new managers will make their debut Sunday afternoon when the Papermakers invade Kaukauna for their opening game with the Electric city aggregation. David Smith, well known in Appleton sport circles, has taken over the job here this year, and according to pre-season dope, the club he has collected will give any other team in the loop a hard rub. George "Stormy" Kromer, of homeplayer fame, is directing the destinies of the Kaukauna club.

Under Kromer's direction, the Electric city team will go into action with several home products on its lineup. It is Kromer's policy to make his club self-supporting as far as possible, and to that end he is giving as many homeplayers a chance as is consistent with the efficiency of the team. Two Hal brothers, Harvey and Ross, will play first and second base Sunday. Nat Somers, a Two Rivers semipro product, has been engaged to do his stuff in the outfield. He is reputed to be a hard hitter as well as a clever and speedy fielder. Gertz Klier will pitch with Stegeman and Kligas alternating on the receiving end.

KAUKAUNA IS WELL DRILLED

Kromer has had his players out for practice regularly for several weeks, and they are said to be in mid-season form. The Kaukauna manager is confident his konsistent club will hold its own with the rest of the loop, and is banking on the opening game to back up his contention.

Appleton has the strongest aggregation in years. Six of last year's Papermaker veterans are back on the lineup, with two players new to the Appleton club but well known here from previous years in the state league, and a new moundman who has had seven years' experience in the National league. Appleton fans are eager to see their club in action and plan to turn out in full force to follow their favorites to Kaukauna Sunday.

The game is scheduled to start at 2:30 p. m. at the Kaukauna ball park.

GRADE SCHOOLS BUILD BALL LOOP

Lincoln and Fourth-grade schools, with Lincoln as home team, will play on Monday, May 5, the first game of the season. The game will be played at the Lincoln school, and the Lincoln team will be the home team. The game will be played at the Lincoln school, and the Lincoln team will be the home team.

Lincoln and Fourth-grade teams, clash at Jones park in the opener on Monday, while Lincoln plays in the Fourth-grade series. The second series will be played Thursday, May 8, with First-grade and Lincoln meeting at Jones park, and the Third-grade in the Fourth-grade. The final contests are scheduled for the following Monday, when the Fourth-grade team invades the First and plays the Third at Jones park.

STIRLING'S PARTNER WILL FIGHT M'GOWAN

New York—Paul Berlenbach is going to box next Friday night in the eight round semi-final to the John-Romero twelve rounder. Paul's opponent will be Billy McGowan of Georgia, lately a member of the Stirling entourage. McGowan has boxed Stirling three times. He lasted the limit each time. If Paul can rock McGowan to sleep he will acquire more backers for himself in his bout with Stirling on the Milk fund card in June.

SARAZEN WINS DRIVING CONTEST AT 255 YARDS

Gene Sarazen, former open champion, won a driving contest at the Greater Sports Club in the Metropolitan district recently with a swat measuring 255 yards. Jim Barnes' best effort was only 224 yards.

Illness Gives Dykes Chance To Oust Rival

Philadelphia—Tonsillitis gave Second Baseman Jimmy Dykes, his chance to break into the Philadelphia Athletics lineup after being relegated to the bench.

The way Dykes is going, it may take something worse than tonsillitis to get him out.

During the winter Connie Mack pursued Second Baseman Max Bishop from the Baltimore club of the International League. He was rated the star of the organization at that position.

Mack gave him the berth at second in preference to Dykes. He played second in the opener, then was taken sick.

Dykes was sent into the game and he started the Athletics in their winning ways. His fine work was instrumental in several victories.

Y. M. C. A. STARTS ANNUAL SWIMMING CAMPAIGN MAY 12

Athletic Director Expects Enrollment to Break All Previous Records

Non-swimmers of Appleton will be given another opportunity to learn how to swim when the local Y. M. C. A. opens its annual swimming campaign on May 12. The first two weeks will be devoted to men and boys and will last from May 12 to May 24, and thereafter girls and women will have their chance at the "Y" pool.

Last year more than 100 men and boys availed themselves of the opportunity to learn the natatory art under the capable instruction of A. C. Jensen, athletic director of the Y. M. C. A. Seventy five per cent of the aspirants were able to swim well after completing the course, which is proof of its efficacy.

The courses will be started earlier this year than last to avoid conflicts with June vacation dates. It is expected that the list of pupils enrolled will be much larger this season than last, and all of those who wish to enter their names are requested to send them in immediately after enrollment blanks are sent out. The application blanks now are at the print shop, and will be sent out to prospects about May 10.

Do you know Baseball?

by Dilly Evans

QUESTIONS

1. If a batter is hit by a pitched ball that goes directly over the plate, what is the ruling?

2. What was the ruling made by the major leagues relative to spitball pitching?

ANSWERS

1. If in the opinion of the umpire the delivery was up to the specifications of a strike, he would so rule it whether or not it hit the batter.

2. The major leagues ruled that the pitchers who used the spitball in 1920 would be allowed to continue it during their career.

Goldstein Had Soft Snap Copping Crown

Lynch, Former Champ, Seldom Trained and Was Ready to Be Bumped off Most Any Time.

Without trying to take anything away from Mr. Abraham Goldstein, newest star of the clock and suit trade, the grim truth is, he copped a cheap championship by beating Joe Lynch for the bantamweight title. Not that Mr. Goldstein should feel the necessity of apologizing to the world, either. Most championships come and go that way. Few champions are ever cut down in their prime. Stanley Ketchel was a notable exception, but he came back, months later, and downed his conqueror.

Lynch had been sitting on the outside of usefulness for eighteen months and was ready to be knocked loose from his ears by the first sturdy youngster to face him. The veteran Joe Burman would have taken him last winter if the fight had gone through, and Lynch knew it.

WOLFE HAD HIM OUT
A Cleveland third-rater—Jack Wolfe—will not know until he reads these lines how close he came to taking the title away from Lynch more than a year ago. Wolfe had Lynch out on his feet in the ninth round, with more than a full minute to go.

Any kind of a tap would have dropped the champion, who was completely exhausted, and once down he could not have got back on his feet. But Wolfe suspected the Irishman was feigning distress and did not close in. The rest period brought Lynch around.

Two months ago Lynch was emphatically beaten at New Orleans by one of the oldest fighters in the ring, Ed. McClellan, of whom the best it may be said is that he is willing and game. McClellan had Lynch hanging on twice and in a longer bout would have stopped him.

Lynch will occupy a unique position in ring history. There were times when he looked the part of the most remarkable bantamweight of all time, and other times when his work suggested the raw novice. You could never figure him from one time to another. This inconsistency barred him from greatness.

DOESN'T LIKE TO TRAIN

Lynch, who throw-back from the old hilarious days of pugilism. He never appreciated the monetary possibilities of the present-day game. A riotous time to him meant more than a shot at a rich purse. Training was irksome, and cut savagely into one's social obligations.

Lynch says he will try to come back as a featherweight, where it will be easy to make the poundage. Of course he will take a fling at it, and may topple a few water-logged flounders with that good right hand of his, but he will not create more than a passing flurry.

It's a long, arduous hike back to the top and Joe, with his twinkling eyes and restless feet, looks upon long, arduous hikes with lofty disdain. He'd much rather call a taxi.

VALUE OF GOLF TITLE ESTIMATED AT $50,000

American professionals estimate the value of the open championship in monetary possibilities at $50,000. You can judge from this how the boys felt when they saw Bobby Jones, an amateur, pull it down last year.

ST. JOSEPH TEAM BEATS FIRST WARD

Winners Issue Challenge to Any Fox River Valley School Club

St. Joseph's school Friday defeated the First warders, 10 to 5, at Brandt park, which gives the victors two wins out of three starts this season. The game was a pitchers' battle, with Heinritz on the mound for St. Josephs, opposed by Bauer of the First-ward. All the scores were made on singles or walks, and each pitcher did his stuff in midseason form.

Berg acted as backstop for Heinritz, Rechter for Bauer. The St. Josephs team issues a challenge to any school club in the Fox River valley. Games may be arranged by calling or writing Wilmer LaFord at 1170 Adkins-st., Appleton, whose telephone number is 3550-W.

Roland Kuehl is captain and George Beck manager of the club.

SEVERAL INJURED WHEN BLEACHERS COLLAPSE

Green Bay, Wis.—A number of persons were injured when a high school bleacher crashed to the ground just as the Knox High school track meet was getting under way here Friday afternoon. Two thousand persons were on the bleacher.

Those hurt were injured about the knees and legs. Several had their ankles sprained. Only six were seriously injured, but a score or more received bruises or sprains.

The injured were taken to the hospital near the field.

The Nut Cracker

AFTER A LONG CONFERENCE WITH THE KING THE PRINCE OF WALES ANNOUNCED HIS RETIREMENT FROM THE SADDLE.—NEWS NOTES.

George (clearing his royal throat): This bally business of horseback riding, young man, it must stop. Wales (rubbing his left hip reminiscently): I hope you aren't trying to flatter me.

George: It is high time you took a tumble to yourself. Wales (protestingly): But dad, that last tumble I took at Leicestershire was perfectly ripping. Indeed, I dare say I have never done a better one.

George (cheerfully): Oh, is that so? Wales: Why brang those noisy writers into the discussion? George: You don't seem to realize how my subjects are kicking.

Wales: Tut, tut! Don't mind the kicking. It's the throwing that gets you. George (earnestly): Do you prefer the saddle to the throne?

Wales: Goodie! Let's tell conundrums. Now what is it that is red on the outside, black on the inside and goes bark, bark?

George (darely missing the princely bark with a short, choppy left hook): What I insist upon knowing is this: will you give up the horses or must I take them from you?

Wales: That would be a change from taking them off me, wouldn't it? George (trailing communication from exalted ruler of the Elks of British East Africa): "I understand prince has been thrown again. Please confirm whether he was out with American girl or sleepy chasing."

Wales (recollective): Well whaddaya want me to do? George: Give up these perilous sports and go in for something less hazardous.

Wales (with regal finality): Very well, I shall get married. George (expressively): Er, hum. Well, perhaps, er, maybe you could find a tamer horse. Wot?

OPENING GAMES OF KROMER LOOP ARE POSTPONED

Appleton Regulars Meet to Discuss Policy for Coming Season

Opening day in the Kromer Home-players league will bring but one of the two Appleton teams into action. Games between Kimberly and the Appleton Rivers and New London and Seymour have been postponed because the teams have been unable to practice. The Kaukauna Comers will invade this city for a game with the Appleton Regulars, however, and Deperes clashes with Green Bay.

The Appleton game will be played at Brandt park. John Schuler, manager of the Appleton Regulars, has called a meeting to discuss organization matters for 8:30 Saturday evening in the Schuler clothing store on College-ave. here. The team is organized, but members have not yet talked over their policy for the coming season.

At present, the club has ten players, including Manager Schuler, who plays third base. Carl Brautigan will pitch, with Rodney Ashman or John Reider at the receiving end. Erwin Hillman plays first base, Erwin Rohloff second, Abbie Laudeit short, and Martin Rehfeld, Ray Kranzsch, C. Klundt and Henry Skell are all set for work in the outfield. Most of these men have had previous experience on the Appleton team and are ready to go. They get off to a late start last year and ended up near the bottom. This year they have the jump on most of the remaining teams of the circuit and expect to be among the leaders when the season closes.

GIBBONS TRAINS AT GRAND BEACH

Chicago—Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul light heavyweight, will train at Grand Beach, Mich., for his fight, May 31, with Georges Carpentier, French boxer, at Michigan City, his manager, Eddie Kane announces.

Citizens of Grand Beach have turned over to Gibbons an entire annex to a hotel on the lake front, with 50 rooms available. Training will be started next Saturday, Kane said. Gibbons will spend several days here next week before beginning his workouts.

BUD GORMAN MAY FIGHT JOHNSON IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee—Bud Gorman of Racine, heavyweight boxer and professional football star, will meet Sgt. Ray Smith of Camden, N. J., at Appleton May 16, at catchweights. Gorman has been going well lately and is anxious to show his wares in a Milwaukee ring. He may be accommodated with a bout against Floyd Johnson before the Arena Athletic club during the summer.

Nick Dumovich, left hand pitcher, has left to join the Los Angeles Coast league club to which club he was released by the Chicago Cubs under a 24-hour optional recall.

Frank Chance who handed over the reins to Johnny Evers as manager of the Chicago White Sox, has gone to Palm Springs, Calif., where he will remain for several months seeking restoration of health.

The Indians will be without the service of Riggs Stephenson, heavy hitting second baseman. Riggs was injured in a collision with Earl Sholly of the White Sox in Thursday's game, his knee being wrenched and a few muscles bruised.

Amos Strunk who broke in with the Philadelphia Athletics many years ago and played a utility role for the White Sox for some time, is again back with Connie Mack, who intends to use Amos as utility man and pinch hitter. Amos was given his unconditional release a short time ago by the White Sox.

Eddie Collins is playing his eighteenth year as a major leaguer and is still one of the greatest stars of the game, his age having little effect on his playing. He is not as fast on the bases as in the old days but still is one of the best base stealers in the game because he knows when to "go." He led the league in stolen bases last season and already has stolen four bags. His batting also is being a big factor with the winning of his club.

WINNERS MAKE FEW HITS

The White Sox victory was one of four Friday in which the winning team made fewer hits. Their five blows off Cuyeskie were mixed with three errors by Joe Sewell. Cleveland's ninth inning rally fell one shy.

Mogridge, one of the innumerable Yankee castoffs, trimmed his former mates, 6 to 4, when Rice hit a homer in the ninth with Judge on base. Pennock's power lessened his downfall.

Ken Williams tried with two on and was responsible for the second St. Louis victory in two days over Detroit. Danforth held the Tigers to five hits. The score was 4 to 1.

Cincinnati won its battle for sec. and place with the Cubs by long hitting behind Tom Sheehan's splendid pitching. Bohne's two homers and Hargrave's circuit smash scored three of the four Red runs. It was Sheehan's fourth victory.

Although the Cardinals outbit the Pirates, 10 to 6, the latter won when Cooper singled Marvynne home after the later had tripped in the ninth. Hornsby was out of the game with an injured hand. Hubbell and Varrison staged a pitchers' battle at Brooklyn until the final innings when both blew up. When it was over Philadelphia had won, 7 to 6, although outbit, 12 to 5. Bob Elmske held the Athletics to three hits while the Red Sox made 13 hits off three Philadelphia pitchers and won, 11 to 0.

CHICAGO JUMPS INTO Triple Tie For Lead In American League

White Sox Humble Cleveland, 3 to 2, While Yankees Lose to Washington and St. Louis Beats Tigers.

Chicago went into a triple tie with New York and Detroit for American league leadership Friday by defeating Cleveland, 3 to 2, while the Yankees lost to Washington and St. Louis beat the Tigers.

The Indians dropped to the cellar. The Giants, popping out of a 12-inning struggle at Boston with their fifth consecutive victory and their eleventh win in the last twelve games, enjoy a three game lead in the National league over Cincinnati, who beat Chicago, 4 to 2, and sent the Cubs back to third place. The Pirates defeated St. Louis, 3 to 2, and moved into the first division.

John McGraw triumphed over his former pupil, Dave Bancroft, after the rival managers had moved their men around like chess masters. Seven pitchers and five pinch hitters were included in the 31 players used. In the twelfth, McGraw evolved a winning combination of four hits, a walk and a sacrifice after which Bancroft resigned. The score was 7 to 4.

Zwick Takes Beating From Bud M'Donald

Green Bay—Buddie McDonald, St. Paul, won decisively over Jack Zwick, Kaukauna, in the 10-round windup of a boxing card here Friday night.

Walter Mills, the buck southpaw, once with Brooklyn and Cleveland, now pitching in the Pacific Coast League, started the season auspiciously with an explosive run-in with Duffy Lewis, manager of Salt Lake. They had to call the cops.

Obesity Is Obstacle To Good Jobs.

That Is Reason Why Women
Exercise and Diet and
Not to Capture Man

New York—Every woman these days has her periods for exercise and her own favorite reducing system, and is pursuing the Venus proportions.

"But not in order to catch a husband," according to Estelle Bertine of the Health Foundation, "but to have more pep, get better jobs and a bigger salary in the business world."

Incidentally, she admits, they often acquire husbands too, because of the new charm, vivacity and slenderness which may be acquired in the gymnasium, is much more alluring to men than the cosmetics you get in the drug store.

In her health classes, Miss Bertine numbers women attorneys, dentists, secretaries, department managers, and practically every type of business or professional woman.

"Of course," she admitted to me, "we will always need doctors. But it is safe to say that the woman who exercises every day and follows a definite program for health is going to need medical attention less frequently than the woman who has nothing to do, and who can have a 'sick spell' whenever she feels like it."

"The women who came to the health foundation first undergo a physical examination. And our doctors are all psychologists as well as doctors. Temperamental clashes in the home are just as hard on the nerves as too much, or too little, food is to the body."

"Each woman exercises to correct her own particular defects. There is no standard to reach but each individual's perfection. The old gymnasium, where the exercises were copied from military drill and done to one-two-three commands, has given way to a less rigorous system where control rather than mechanical gestures is the rule."

Miss Bertine insists every woman must know what her defects are before she tries to correct them.

"If a woman stands badly, she will probably stand incorrectly while exercising and she gets no benefit from what she is doing," she explains. "For this reason the exercises done while lying down or while in a sitting position are much better for beginners."

All Can Be Butterflies With
Raiment Properly Chosen

We can all be butterflies this season, no matter how serious minded we be. If we get the proper raiment. Notice this three-piece gown of roshanara crepe printed in bold gay designs.

The dress is a perfectly straight sack affair, but the cape is voluminous and wide and fastens with an elaborately fringed scarf. The close little hat made of folds of the same crepe which forms the gown adheres to the butterfly outline, and this makes the illusion and the costume complete.

FASHION HINTS

FLOWERS

The use of flowers is one of the newest notes in millinery. They are being massed and combined as they used to be before the craze for untrimmed hats and draped turbans struck us.

DETACHABLE

Some of the practical new coats for summer have for collars that are detachable and may be removed when the days grow more torrid.

FULL SLEEVES

Very full sleeves, gathered into narrow bands at the wrist and dropped at the shoulder, are noticed.

NATURAL FLOWERS

The first spring days bring out the courage of natural flowers. Lilies of the valley are particularly popular now.

DULL REDS

Dull reds and all the shades of rose are seen in the latest collections. In chiffons they are most lovely.

LEATHER COATS

Leather coats, short and long, usually quite untrimmed, are new this season. Sometimes they have very circular sides.

PLEATINGS

An unusual frock has the whole front panel covered with tiny pleating of the material.

BENGALINE FROCK

The bengaline frock, which is the most popular material of the moment, is probably at its best in black, combined with white.

Broomstick No Model
For Woman's Figure,
Princess Warns Girls

Thought of Woman Should Not Be on Ways to Get Thin, but Rather on Keeping Man
Guessing As to Her Choice of Him.

New York—Now that the Flapper 34 has replaced the Perfect 36 only to find the Subdeb 32 threatening its newly won laurels, along comes a woman, a princess forsooth, and warns American women they are all on the wrong track.

Princess Athena Pierides, who says she's a descendant of Cleopatra, views us with consternation. Born in Egypt, she was trained in the ways of oriental wisdom and feminine charm.

"What has made the broomstick the model of the modern American woman's figure?" she asks. "No artist ever found his inspiration in such a woman. Every famous piece of sculpture shows a woman who is a woman—who looks as if she might be the mother of strong, healthy children."

"Does the thin woman of today, with no figure and no carriage, who starves herself to death and wearies herself with exercises, think she is attractive to men?"

"BE A WOMAN!"

The princess believes she is not. To charm a man one must not suggest an adolescent youth or an immature school girl, but a woman, she maintains.

"Then," the Egyptian oracle continues, "she must make herself mysterious. The American woman takes not trouble to do that. She throws all her cards on the table at once and has nothing up her sleeve with which to bring in the final tricks."

"She must keep a man worrying—and fearful lest he will lose her, or incur her displeasure. She must never give him the feeling that he understands her, but must make him desire that above all things."

"She must make him feel she is unattainable, no matter how anxious he is to try a new name on her visiting cards. No man wants what he thinks he can have."

"LET HIM SUFFER!"

"She must make him suffer frequently. Then she is able to make the joy she affords more effective because of the contrast."

Though the princess believes women are mentally superior to men, she says no knowing woman will ever give any intimation of the celebration of which she is capable.

"And never wound a man's pet vanity," she advises. "It takes too long to heal the laceration."

One bit of consolation she readily grants us.

"The American woman has learned to keep her youth better than any woman in the world. When she recaptures the charm she has lost in her mad dash for independence she will be the greatest wonder of the modern world."

Adventures Of
The Twins

THE MOUSE-TRAP

"Now then," said the Beanstalk Mouse to Nancy and Nick when he had carried them safely out of the dark drain, "we are in the gardener's cellar where it is nice and dry. And now I shall show the funny round dish the gardener has been kind enough to set out for me."

"What is it like?" asked Nancy. "It's round and has holes in the sides, also some very shiny whirling signs with bits of cheese hung on them, all ready for me to dine on. I do think the gardener is a grand man to be so kind! But come on. I'll show it to you! It's right over here under the steps. And you must be my guests and have pot-luck with me. There is plenty of cheese for all."

The Twins were not so anxious to share Mister Mouse's meal as they were to see the wonderful dish he spoke of. What kind of a dish could it be that had holes and whirling signs? But Nick said he was sure they would both be much obliged to stay and everything, and after that all three of them went over to the dark place under the stairs.

"There!" declared the Beanstalk Mouse with a wave of his long tail. "There is the dish right there in the corner. And do you smell the cheese? Really it smells so delicious it almost makes me want to sneeze."

"Why?" gasped Nancy the minute she set eyes on it. "That's a mouse trap, Mister Mouse!"

"A what?" shrieked the mouse.

backing away in a hurry. "What did you say?"

"A mouse-trap," repeated Nick. "Those whirling signs are springs, and if you touched any of them, you'd be caught."

"Are you sure?" exclaimed the mouse doubtfully.

"I'll show you," said Nick. "Only the trap is so big and I'm so little, I'm not quite sure I can work it."

No wonder Nick had his doubts, my dears, for the Beanstalk Mouse was as big as a pony and the mouse-trap was as large as a—oh, about as large as a garage.

Nick picked up a big piece of wood and reached into one of the holes on the side of the trap.

Scarcely had the stick touched the cheese, when bang! The trap went off like a cannon, turning completely over and knocking the Twins off their feet.

"Dear, dear! Are you hurt?" squealed the Beanstalk Mouse rushing up. But Nancy and Nick jumped right up, as spry as crickets.

"We're all right, Mister Mouse," they laughed. "Don't worry."

"Oh, I'm so much obliged!" panted the mouse gratefully. "Just think what would have happened if it had been me instead!"

"You saved our lives, and we are glad to do the same for you," said Nancy. "But remember, you mustn't get too greedy or you may get into trouble yet."

"What's all this I hear down here?" said a great voice just then, and the door in the cellar opened and the gardener looked in. "I thought I heard mice squealing. I'll just have a look at that trap."

But when he got there not a thing was to be seen but the overturned trap. Nancy and Nick had skipped off.

And as for the Beanstalk Mouse,

he had scurried down a hole, long and tall and all!

YOUNG GIRL

Words Failed to Express Benefit
Received from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Greenville, Texas.—"Words can not express how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."

Every month I would have cramps and headaches and I felt like I was freezing to death. I suffered in this way from the time I was a young girl, and all the doctors said was 'operation.' For months I had a tired, sleepy feeling all day, and when night would come I would be so nervous I couldn't stay in bed. Our druggist recommended the Vegetable Compound to my husband and he bought four bottles. I have taken every one and I think I have a right to praise your medicine."—Mrs. J. B. HOLLEMAN, 2214 E. RADIO AIDS SHIP IN DETERMINING DISTANCE AT SEA

Radio Dots, in Connection with Submarine Bell, Is Basis of Figuring

A new method of determining distances at sea was described by George Lewis, in a talk before the Ohio Academy of Science at Columbus, Ohio, last night. Lewis is a Lieutenant in the United States Navy and holds the first license issued to radio operators. For several years he had charge of experimental work for the Navy.

"A specially designed radio transmitter sends out a series of dots, one second apart, which, used in connection with the sound of a bell through the water, enables the observers on a ship automatically to determine their distance from a given object, such as a ship or shore," Mr. Lewis said. "A half mile through the water is covered in one second by the submarine bell signal."

"The radio signal, used in connection with the submarine signal is almost instantaneous in its travels. The combination of the submarine and radio signals enables the ship officers to determine accurately the position of the vessel, for example, with regard to a lighthouse. A pair of earphones is used by the radio operator on the ship, one phone connected to the radio transmitter and the other to the submarine receiving set, so that it is possible for the operator to listen for the signals sent from the lighthouse and thus determine the position."

"Each radio dot heard by the operator means a half mile between the ship and the lighthouse and it is only necessary to count the number of dots he hears before the arrival of the submarine signal, then the distance is known."

"Some fifty years ago the great British physicist, John Tyndall, concluded his masterly report of Fog signals as follows:

"With the instruments now at our disposal wisely established along our coast I venture to think that the saving of property, in ten years will be an exceedingly large multiple of the outlay necessary for the establishment of such signals. The saving of life appears to the higher motives of humanity."

"The practicability of this system was proven to be successful on the day before Christmas, 1916, and thus the Navy Department gave to the nation as a Christmas present a scientific discovery designed to save life and property."

How To Build Regenerative 3-Circuit Receiver

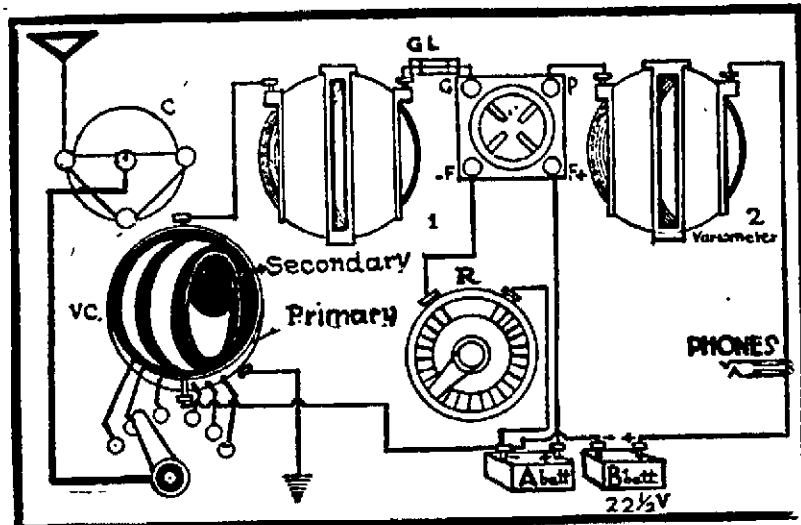

DIAGRAM SHOWING CONNECTIONS IN THE REGENERATIVE RECEIVER

Perhaps the most popular receiving set is the Armstrong regenerative three-circuit tuner. The principle upon which this circuit has been designed is that by which a signal after detection is "fed back" upon the grid circuit, thereby increasing its original energy and greatly amplifying the weaker signals.

This "regeneration" is produced by means of a tickler coil or variometer in the plate circuit which "throws back" the signal from the plate to the grid. A variometer in the grid circuit in turn sends the amplified signal back to the plate and the phones.

PARTS NEEDED

Following are the parts for such a set:

- One dielectric panel, 8 by 18 inches.
- One wood base, 8 by 17 inches.
- One variocoupler.
- Two variometers.
- One 23-plate, or .0005 variable condenser.

One .00025 grid condenser and variable grid leak.

- One 5-ohm vernier rheostat.
- One tube socket.
- One rotary switch.
- Six contact points.
- Two switch lever stops.
- One closed circuit phone jack.
- Six binding posts.
- Thin sheet copper for shielding, 8 by 18 inches.

Bus wire for connections.

All this, besides the UV200 or C300 tube, the 6-volt storage A battery, the B battery and phones.

This hookup can be heard only on phones. If loud speaker is to be used, two-step audio amplification would be necessary. In that event also, the B battery voltage would have to be increased from 22.13 to 45 volts.

SPECIAL WINDINGS

For the variocoupler, take a piece of thin dielectric tubing, 4 inches in diameter and 5 inches long, and wind 48 turns of No. 20 D. C. wire, taking a tap off at every 8 turns. The secondary consists of a ball rotor, 3-1/2 inches in diameter. On each side of this wind 18 turns of the same wire.

Both variometers are made exactly alike. Each consists of one piece of 4-inch tubing 4 inches long, and a rotor 3-1/2 inches in diameter. Wind 20 turns of No. 20 D. C. wire on the tubing, then skip one-half inch and wind 20 more turns of the same wire. The half inch space allows room for a quarter-inch rod to hold the rotor in place.

On each side of the rotor wind 20 turns of the No. 20 D. C. wire. Wind all coils in same direction. Connect one end of stator of the variometers to one end of the rotor. The variometers should be as far apart as possible. The tube and the variocoupler can be placed between them.

The variable condenser can either be kept outside the set, or can be attached to the upper left side of the panel above the first, or grid, variometer. The connection from the grid variometer to the grid condenser and leak and thence to the tube socket must be as short and direct as possible. Make all connections as short as possible. The grid leak can vary from one to five megohms.

OPERATIONS OF SET

Operation of this set is extremely delicate. For this reason, it is suggested that a copper shield be applied to the back of the panel, clear of all rods and contact points, except the center of the switch lever and the ground binding post.

A vernier rheostat is called for to set the tube to an exact position just before its oscillation point. This is done by turning the rheostat until a faint noise is heard, then turning the vernier back until this is cleared. Then the grid and plate variometer dials can be tuned slowly and equally until a whistling sound is heard. The variable condenser and the secondary of the variocoupler are then turned to clear the whistling and bring out the broadcast program.

For different wave-lengths, the primary switch is moved forward or backward from one switch point to another.

AIR PRESSURE IS BLAMED FOR FADING

Experimenter Thinks He Knows
What Causes Him to Lose
Stations

So many explanations of the phenomena of "fading" in radio signals have been advanced by experts, that the conclusion of John Baptista, Boston radio fan, are of more than usual interest. This fan, who has experimented with fading for several months, blames it to varying atmospheric pressure.

"I am firmly convinced that atmospheric pressure plays a large part in producing this condition," he says. "The other evening, while tuning in and getting no results, I suddenly picked up BCE at Sudbury, Ont. Because of the distance and the poor receiving conditions, I considered this remarkable. Studying the weather map the next day, I found that the area of pressure running from Boston to Sudbury was equal at all points. Since that time I have never been able to tune in BCE, and a study of the weather maps show that the pressure has never since been the same."

Mr. Baptista also records that station WTAM at Cleveland, which sometimes fades on his set, recently came in sharp and clear, although he could not pick up KDKA and WGY. Investigation proved that the isobar ran direct from Boston to Cleveland, the atmospheric pressure being the same at both points, while between Boston and Pittsburg and Boston and Schenectady the pressure varied. Because of the set tests, he concludes that when the isobars run direct from Boston to any distant point, reception is best from that point.

SIGNAL WILL TELL IF RADIO IS SET FOR MUSIC

Philadelphia—An invention whereby radio users can leave their sets and be notified through distinctive audible signals whether music, lectures, or other forms of entertainment are being received. In their absence was described on Friday by the research laboratories of the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

Details of the device were given in a paper read before the convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers in session here.

The invention, it was pointed out, will also eliminate long hours of sitting with receivers to the ear by operators aboard ships, while its selective features will enable radio listeners everywhere to choose entertainment.

ICE PATROL FOR SHIPS
Radio is helping ships in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and beyond to keep clear of ice. An ice patrol is maintained here, by which daily reports of ice conditions are sent out to navigators.

FOR DOG LOVERS
Dog lovers couldn't do better than tune in on WJZ every Monday evening. Frank Dole, noted kennel authority, has been broadcasting interesting dog lectures from this station for the last 18 months.

REGULAR PROGRAMS
British broadcast listeners will be enabled to listen in on programs from this country once every two weeks. American programs will be received on short wave-lengths, and will be retransmitted by the London station on the wave-lengths to which the British listeners are accustomed.

SEND 3 PROGRAMS ON SINGLE WIRE UNDER NEW SYSTEM

Every House Soon Will Be
Wired to Receive Radio
Concerts

Staten Island, N. Y.—Radio programs will be switched on and off like electric lights in millions of American homes within the next few years. So promise engineers who are working here on wired wireless.

For four months last winter, an engineering staff under the direction of R. D. Duncan Jr. gave Staten Island a daily radio program over the city electric lighting system loaned to them for their experiments by the light company. Only one program could be sent at a time.

Now they have perfected apparatus enabling them to send two programs simultaneously, and before long they expect to transmit three simultaneous programs over the same wires without in any way interfering with the ordinary light and power current on those wires.

The plan is based on the discoveries of Maj. Gen. George O. Sauter and others that high frequency radio current can be superimposed without interference on wires carrying the low frequency current for lighting and power.

WORKS EASILY
"Some 12,000,000 American homes are wired for electricity," says C. W. Hough, who is in charge of the experiments. "These wires furnish a pathway terminating at every lighting socket."

"Suppose we cause songs, lectures, news dispatches, orchestra music and other features to run along this path. To release the radio waves, all the lighting customer needs is a small receiving set which he plugs into a light socket the same as a fan or a toaster.

"He requires no aerials, no special wiring, no batteries; nothing, in fact, but a neat little case with a single dial. Once the dial is placed in position, no further attention is necessary."

STAR TALENT
Because wired radio is still in the experimental stage, the cost to the consumer has not yet been determined. Hough believes, however, that a three-program service can be supplied for a monthly rental of about two dollars.

"Wired radio offers the solution to the broadcasting station puzzle," he said. "When we get into actual commercial operation, the artists and musicians will not be asked to work for nothing. They will be paid. If the public demand turns out to be as large as we hope, the income from monthly subscribers should be large enough to permit us to engage the foremost stars."

RADIO IN GERMANY
About 160 firms are manufacturing radio apparatus in Germany, reports Kurt Hildesheimer, clerk to the American commercial attaché in Berlin. Two broadcasting stations, one in Berlin and the other in Leipzig, are operating. Others are planned for Hamburg, Munich, Stuttgart, Frankfurt, Nuremberg, Breslau and Koeningberg.

WOULD USE RADIO SETS TO CIVILIZE SAVAGES

Radio may be used to civilize the African native, reports Trade Commissioner Richard R. May of Alexandria, Egypt, to the Department of Commerce.

A former Kenya colony official is dickering for three or four broadcasting stations and a loud speaker in every village, whereby instructions in agriculture, besides music, news and other matter, will be given the natives direct. Messengers are now conveying this information.

CANADIAN CHAIN
The transcontinental radio chain across Canada will be completed with the erection of broadcasting stations in Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Regina, Edmonton and Calgary. The chain will be operated by the Canadian National Railways.

SPEEDIER CABLES
"Permalloy," a new kind of alloy, is going to be used to speed up the oceanic cables in competition with radio. It is an alloy of nickel and iron, very sensitive to magnetic changes and therefore more responsive to the touch of the telegrapher's key.
